

The Latte Index Q3 2026

What a coffee costs around the world says more than you think

Average Price in €

The Latte Index Q3 2026

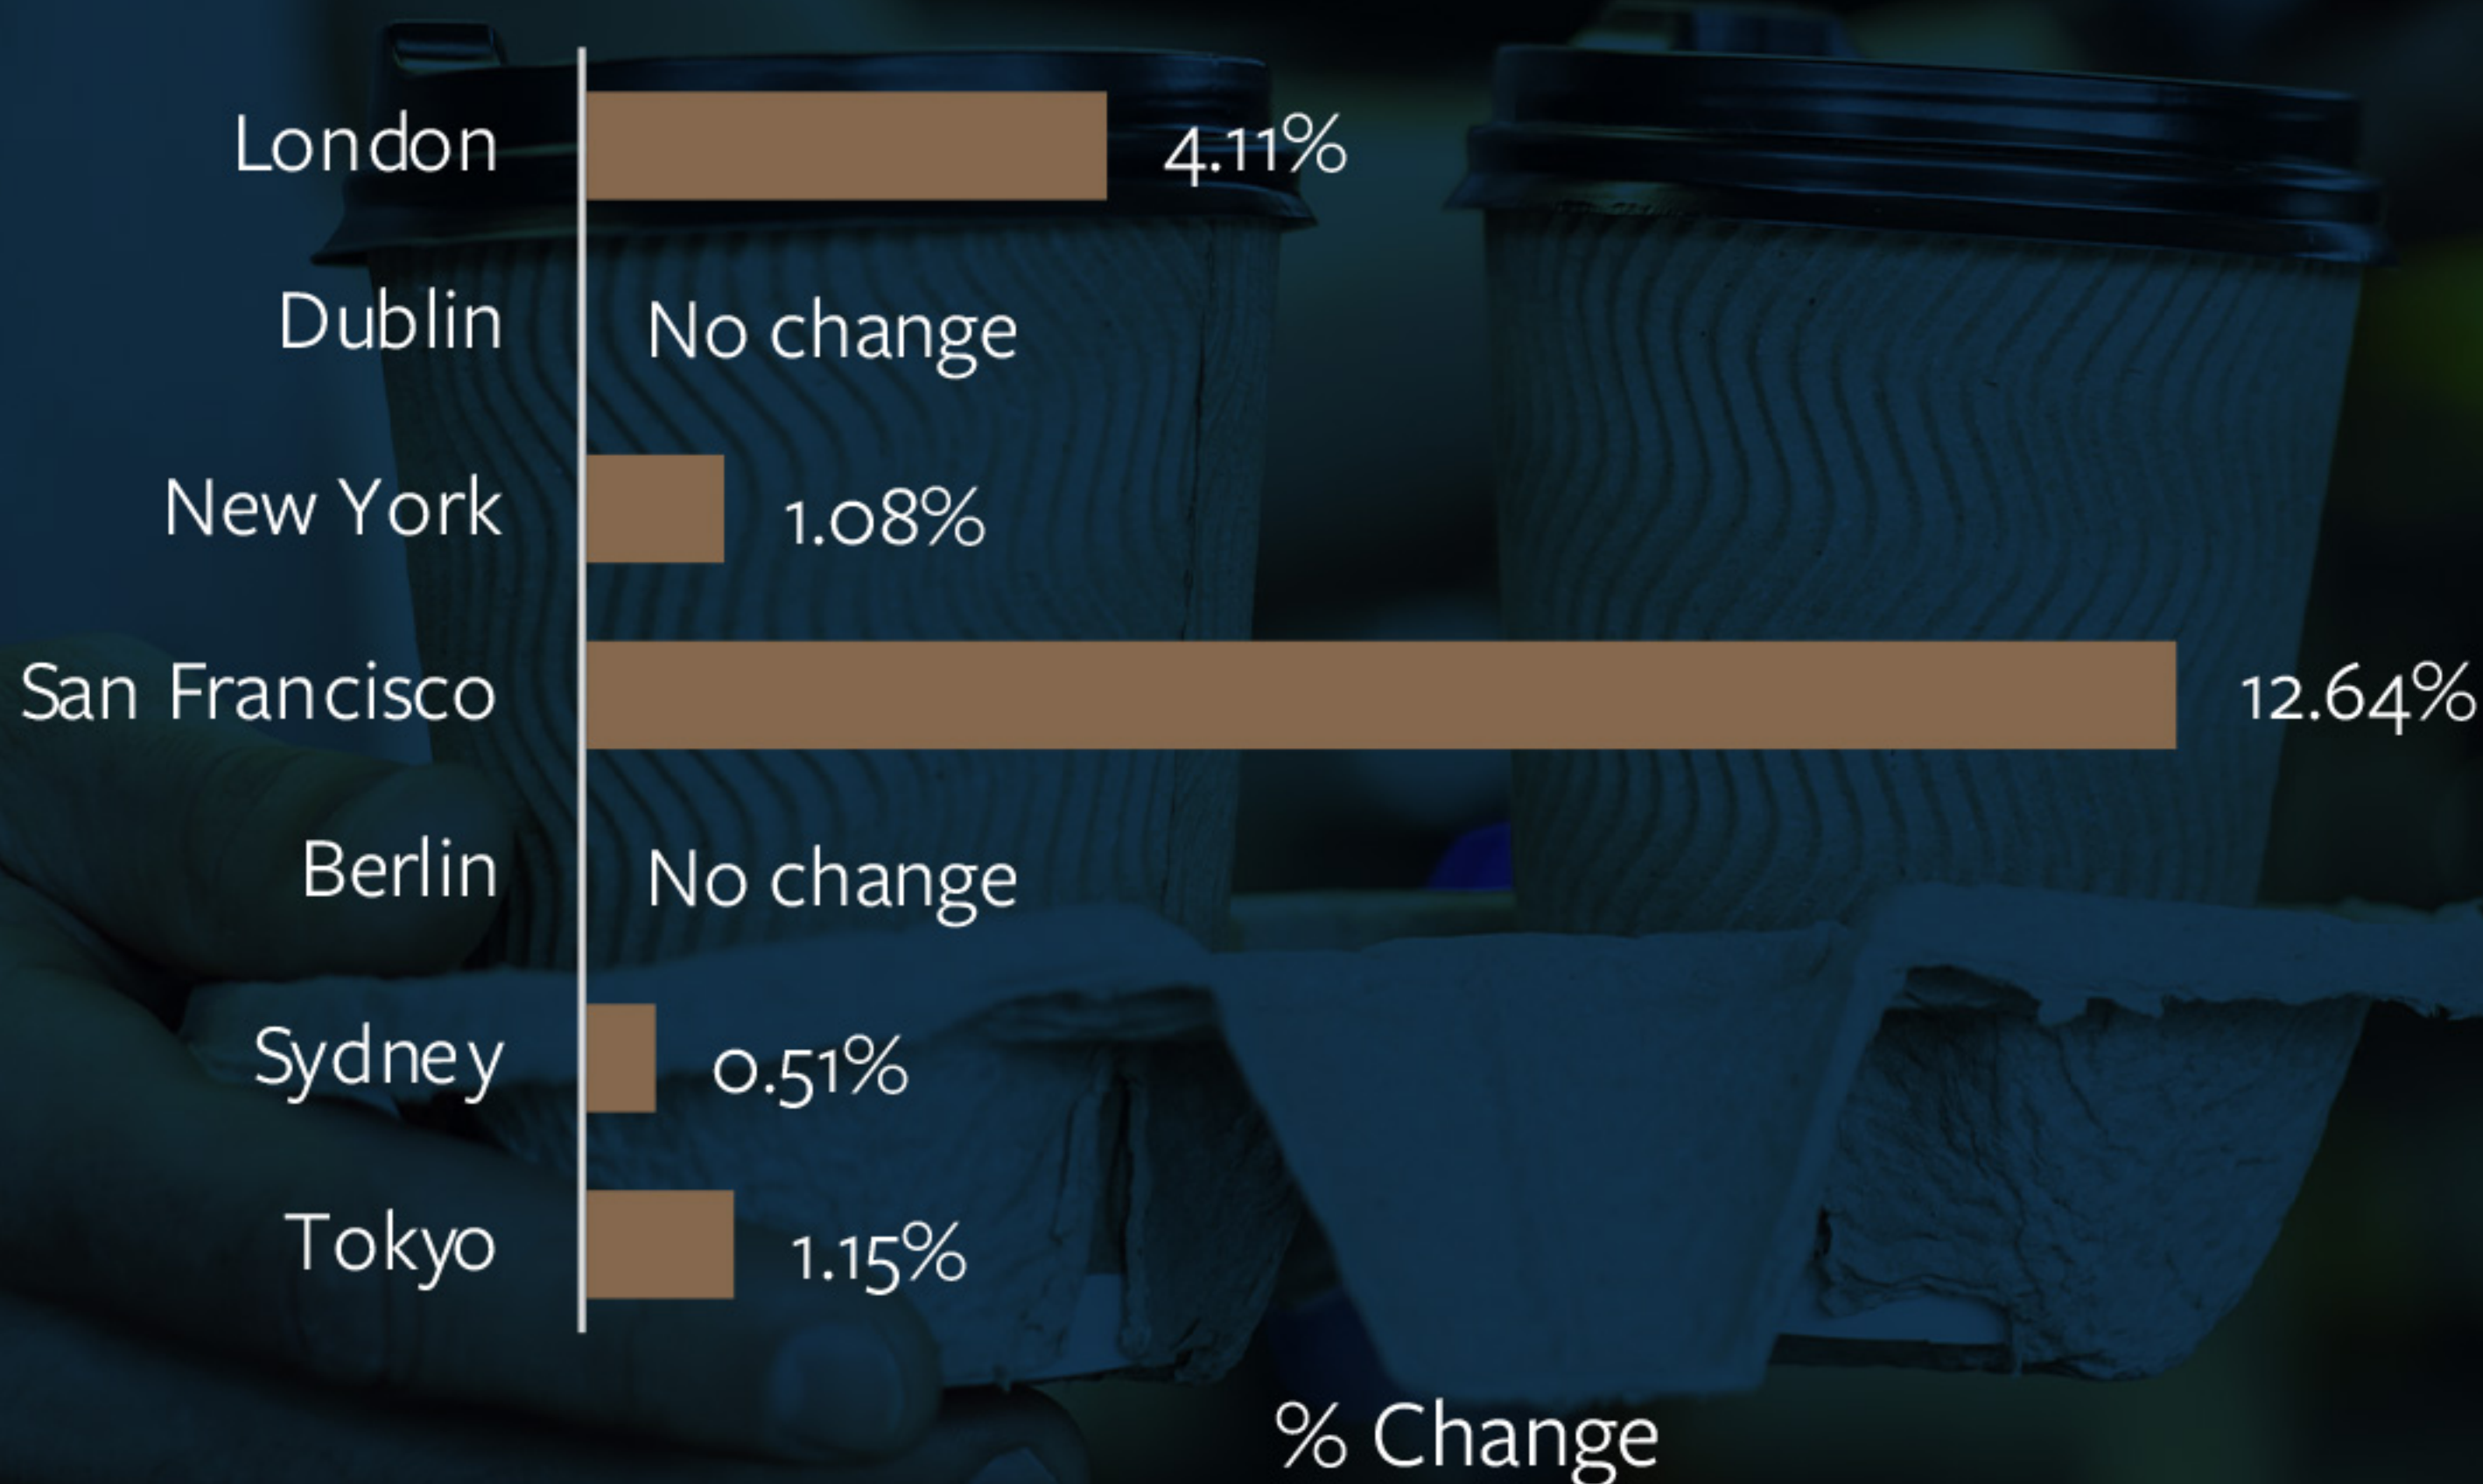

How Prices Have Changed Since Q1

Average Price in €

The Latte Index Q3 2026

Who's Up? Who's Down?

A background image showing two hands holding two disposable coffee cups. The image is dark and moody, with a blue tint. The hands are visible at the bottom, and the cups are in the center. The text is overlaid on the image.

The Latte Index Q3 2026

Dublin €5.65 0%
v Q1 2026

Dublin is unchanged at €5.65 for the third consecutive quarter and remains the second most expensive city.

A background image showing two hands holding two disposable coffee cups. The image is dark and moody, with a blue tint. The hands are visible at the bottom, holding the cups which are in the center. The cups have black lids and are wrapped in brown paper with a wavy pattern.

The Latte Index Q3 2026

London €6.25 +4.11%
v Q2 2026

London remains the most expensive city at €6.25, increasing by 4.11% from Q2.

A background image showing two hands holding two disposable coffee cups. The image is dark and moody, with a blue tint. The cups are white with black lids. The hands are visible at the bottom and sides, holding the cups. The overall composition is centered and balanced.

The Latte Index Q3 2026

New York €5.08 +1.08%
v Q2 2026

New York increases slightly to €5.08, although the local price remains unchanged at $5.85.

A background image showing two hands holding two disposable coffee cups. The image is dark and moody, with a blue tint. The cups are white with black lids. The hands are visible at the bottom and sides, holding the cups. The overall tone is professional and modern.

The Latte Index Q3 2026

San Francisco €5.08 +12.64%
v Q2 2026

San Francisco records the largest Q3 increase, rising by 12.64% to €5.08 as the local price returns to $5.85.

The Latte Index Q3 2026

Berlin €4.90 0%
v Q2 2026

Sydney €4.60 +0.51%
v Q2 2026

Tokyo €3.48 +1.15%
v Q2 2026

Berlin is unchanged at €4.90, while Sydney and Tokyo record only limited euro movements. The cross city average increases from €4.87 in Q2 to €5.01 in Q3, returning broadly to the Q1 level.